CRIME REPORTING: HOW TO BETTER ENGAGE THE MEDIA ON JUSTICE ISSUES

VIDEO QUESTIONNAIRE

1. What do you think are the similarities between a criminal lawyer, particularly an appellate lawyer representing a convicted person, and an investigative journalist interested in wrongful convictions?
2. Are there systemic issues in relation to the criminal justice system that you think the New Zealand media should raise? If so, what are they and in what order would you raise them?
3. Do you have a policy for when you will speak to the media? If so, what factors do you weigh? If not, what are the reasons for and against having a policy?
4. Should the Criminal Bar Association do more in terms of collaboration with the media?
